

I am very concerned about the deregulation of the media. In order to make educated decisions people must have access to a variety of information from many sources. It is a threat to our society to have our access to information controlled by a few companies. I find it extremely disturbing that I have not heard more about this issue. This suggests that the media is already limiting my ability to be an educated citizen of the United States. This seems to me to be a dangerous step away from a democracy and towards a dictatorship. I am against deregulation of the media.
